

1. Legal requirement

- 1.1. Adopting a publication scheme is a requirement of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. The Act promotes greater openness and accountability across the public sector by requiring all ‘public authorities’ to make information available proactively, through a publication scheme.
- 1.2. ‘Public authorities’ are defined in the Act and include universities, further education colleges and sixth forms.

2. What is a publication scheme?

- 2.1. A publication scheme is a document which describes the information a public authority publishes, or intends to publish. In this context, ‘publish’ means to make information available routinely. These descriptions are called ‘classes of information’. The scheme is not a list of the actual publications, because this will change as new material is published or existing material is revised. It is, however, the public authority’s commitment to make available the information described.
- 2.2. A publication scheme must set out the classes, or categories, of information published. It must also make clear how the information described can be accessed and whether or not charges will be made.

3. The ‘model’ publication scheme for further education

- 3.1. Cornwall College Group has adopted the model publication scheme developed for the further education sector and is therefore committed to publishing the information it describes.
- 3.2. This model is designed for further education colleges across England, Wales and Northern Ireland. The purpose of the model is to save institutions duplicating effort in producing individual schemes and to assist the public in accessing information from across the sector. However, to reflect the diversity in size and function of institution, a number of optional classes of information are included. As a result, models within the sector will vary slightly. Any optional classes relevant to us have been included in our scheme.

These are available to view (by prior appointment) in our Head Office in St Austell.

5.3.4. Please note that a publication scheme relates to ‘published’ information. Therefore, material covered has already been prepared in a format ready for distribution.

6. What about information not covered by the publication scheme?

6.1. From 1 January 2005 you have the right under the Freedom of Information Act 2000, to request any information held by a public authority which it has not already made available through its publication scheme.

6.2. Requests must be made in writing and, in general, public authorities have 20 working days to respond. They may charge a fee, which is calculated according to Fees Regulations. They are not required to release information to which an exemption in the Act legitimately applies. However, public authorities may be required to explain to the applicant why they are not releasing information and they may also have to justify this to the Information Commissioner.
